

With climate change, even the nights are hot

Average number of days per year with recorded low temperatures 70 degrees or higher in the Boston and Milton areas.

Source: NOAA • Boston temperatures are based on measurements from the Boston Logan weather station. Milton temperatures are based on readings from Blue Hill Meteorological Observatory. Data not available for the Milton area prior to 1893.

JOHN HANCOCK/GLOBE STAFF

 A Flourish chart

That means that with these extreme temperatures comes extreme risk.